WHAT ?

At the present time Granum is agitating for a brick company to locate there. Claresholm is all up in the air for the location of a sugar beet factory at that town, as also is High River. Nanton is after a creamery. Cayley is out for a—what? Is there any just reason why we could not get flour mill? There is no need of discussing what an ideal location we have—that's admitted by all. If we cannot get a company to locate here, could we not get up something locally? What a splendid chance is here for the farmers? We have an energetic council, and also patriotic citizens. What is there to prevent us from all pulling together and "do things" this year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eleven? Isn't it worth thinking about, and doing something?

Still There's More to Follow

Whether the reciprocity pact becomes law or not the "American Invasion" of the Canadian West during 1911 gives indications of being a record one. North Portal, which last year was the main gateway for American settlers' cars, is this year again contributing its quota. Last year, owing to the early opening of spring, the most phenomena rush was during the month of March, when over 1,000 cars passed this port. This year during the same month something less than 600 cars passed, but April this year will exceed last year, judging by the present activity along immigration lines. On Monday, April 3, there pulled out from the Soo yards, Portal, N. D., into the C.P.R. yards, North Portal, Sask., a solid train of 44 cars of settlers' effects. And this is but a sample of what is to follow.

Farmer's Scrap Book

Every farmer should keep a scrap book and cultivate the habit of clipping out of the farm journals or other papers the things which he reads and desires to remember or call to mind again. It is a poor plan to destroy your farm paper as soon as you have read it through. Instead, go carefully over it and clip out anything you find that interests you, tables of valuable information, recipes, plans or illustrations that you think you might need for future reference. Cut out these articles and paste them in the scrap book under some system of classification that will be a good index of titles.—The Twentieth Century Farmer.

Vote on Reciprocity

Canadian reciprocity was the subject of debate in the U. S. Senate on Tuesday, it being the third day of discussion, and originally planned to be the concluding day. It will not, however, for when the house convened Chairman Underwood of the Ways and Means committee declared so many appeals for more time have been made to him that the debate must be postponed at least another day. "I do not believe that we can conclude the debate before Thursday," said Mr. Underwood. "Mr. McCall," he concluded, "on the Republican side, to whom I have allotted five hours of my time, has not yet spoken, nor have any of the Republican supporters of the bill. Their arguments alone will take the greater part of a day, and Mr. Dalzell has not yet spoken. There are others on both sides who wish to speak and I will close the debate. I see no chance of getting the bill to a vote before Thursday at the earliest."

Mr. McCall, Massachusetts, was ready on Tuesday to take up the debate to answer some of the arguments made against the bill by his party colleagues, Representatives Hines, Fordney, Denroost and Crumpacker.

A Crow Does Some Growing

Three bald eagles, housed in the aviary at Manito Park, Spokane, were put to flight by a crow in a pitched battle a few days ago. The crow made the attack by ripping the shingles from the roof of the house where the eagles roosted. The eagles showed fight but were routed by the smaller bird pecking their heads and claws. The eagles flew high into the air and swooped down in the regulation fashion, but the crow, which earned its spurs in previous combats with hawks and other marauders, was equal to the occasion, dodged cleverly when unable to counter to wing blows and bill jabs. Attendants at the bird house say that the fight was lively from start to finish, adding that if it were not for their interference there might have been one or

Misses Lobban and Logan attended the teachers' convention held at Edmonton last week.

Work is being rushed around here, everyone seems anxious to get as much grain as possible.

Chas. Latham completed last week the building of the vault in the new Bank of Hamilton building here.

Good Friday passed off very quietly. All the stores were closed and most of the farmers were at work.

The large congregation present at the Methodist church appreciated the splendid Easter music rendered by the choir.

Mr. Shackleton has purchased the T. Widdup farm. Price $9000
This is one of the finest properties in Southern Alberta.

The provincial government is starting to put in another trunk telephone line from Edmonton through Calgary to Lethbridge.

How the farms in this district are soaking up the moisture from the snow fall! The farmers are wearing the smile that won't come off nowadays.

A meeting of Modern Woodmen of America will be held on Tuesday, the 25th inst. All members are particularly requested to be present.

Miss Nina Hill opened a boarding house on Monday, in the house formerly occupied by Mrs.
D. R. Fitzg. The Hustler wishes Miss Hill success in her new undertaking.

Mrs. Oran Brooks, mother of the four children who were burned to death in a fire on their homestead, east of Coumts, a week ago Saturday, has since died as a result of the burns she received.

There was a heavy fall of snow on Monday, but it was very soft and by noon was melted by the sun. This kept the farmers out of the fields for a few hours. So far we have had plenty of moisture

In our report of the concert given last week in connection with the foot ball club, we regret that the name of Mrs. G. A. Sexsmith was inadvertently omitted as accompanied, whose excellent work was fully appreciated by all.

Neil Plummer is over from New Westminster to look after his farm east of Cayley. He put in his crop last fall before he moved to the coast, but he wanted to see how it came through the winter, and he found it looking all right.

Farmers of this district have been making splendid progress with their seedling and will have a big increase in acreage under cultivation. Some of the wheat sown last month is showing already. The conditions here were never better than this spring.

Braeside Sunday school organized April 9th, with J. H.
Brown, superintendent; Norman Cruikshank, assistant supt.; Mrs.
Marian Coote, sec.-treas.; Mrs.
C. W. Coote, teacher of bible class; Miss Iva Crawford, teacher of primary class. There will be a teacher appointed for the class of younger children.

The Svea Herald, of the village of Svea City, Iowa, has written the secretary of the Calgary board of trade and requested some information regarding Calgary's municipally owned utilities. The village has a population of 415 sows, now owns its own water system, and is planning the construction of a municipally owned electric light plant.

An Ontario clergyman has resigned his charge and will edit the Leamington Post. Some physician has ill-advised him if he thinks editing a paper is good for the health.—Lethbridge Herald.

The Nanton News regrets the absence of a board of trade. This is Alberta's year, and if any town wishes to get its share of what is going, it should have a board of trade organization which will not only ask for what it wants, but step out and get it. What about Cayley's board of trade?

The crop report issued by the Canadian Northern Railway for the week ending April 15 shows that a large increase in acreage will be the order this year, and at several points seeding is well on.
Everyone is well pleased with the recent snowfall in spite of the fact that it has set seeding operations back for a few days. It is expected that seeding will be general along the lines of the Canadian Northern in a week or ten days.

Hon. Duncan Marshall, Provincial Minister of Agriculture, is out to encourage the Alberta sheep by asking to have the duty on woolen wire removed. The Department is undertaking to show the value of small flocks. There is no doubt that sheep raising can be taken up with profit by Southern Alberta farmers and that the industry will be in line with the policy of "mixed farming," which is the agricultural goal we are striving after.

Box Social

The box social held in the Methodist church here last week was a big success and well attended. The debate, "Marriage a Failure," created both great interest and amusement. For the affirmative—F. Scragg, Sandy Durham, J. Cohen; negative—Donald Sinclair, G. D. Stone, I.
T. Schooler; judges, G. W.
Wickens, C. C. Chaffee and C. A.
Gardner. Each side made equal points. It is expected that at some future date the subject will again be threshed out to the queen's taste. F. F. Macdonald was the efficient chairman.

Red Hill

Snow all gone again, and farmers are busy on the land.

Once more we hear the whistle of the steam plow.

A number of friends and neighbors called on Mr. and Mrs. Men-singer one evening last week and spent a very pleasant evening.

John Base is busily engaged breaking on the pre-emption owned by Judd Dean.

George and Wm. Smith, of the Big Bow, are spending a few days with their cousin, Cecil Smith.

Cannot marry Brother's Widow

A man may marry his deceased wife's sister, but not his brother's widow. That is the law according to Judge Lampman in the county court. The point occurred in connection with the nuptials of Herbert Baker, hotel clerk, North Vancouver. Mr. Baker had been refused license by Mr. Dockrill, Vancouver registrar, on the ground of the too near affinity of the lady he proposed to wed. She was the widow of his brother.
Mr. Baker then turned to New Westminster and signed a declaration that there was no lawful impediment against the celebration of his marriage. The judge convicted Mr. Baker of a contravention of the marriage law, and directed him to enter into his recognizances to come up for judgment when called upon. He was also ordered to pay $75 towards the cost of prosecution.

My Christmas Dinner

Written Dec. 27th, 1910, by Guy O.
Kaitting, Sweet Valley, Alta.
Of all the Xmas dinners that I've loved,

The one that I enjoyed the most,
I ate at the home of Mr. Bell.
Now if you will listen, I will tell you about this Xmas dinner. And of all the many good things That was my lot to eat.
I also shall explain to you,
If you will give me time,
The very important personages With whom I was pleased to dine.
We had the finest turkey That ever I did see;
And so we nicely roasted,
And they dished it out so free,
That I ate and continued eating, Till stop at last I must,
For I was sure I did not,
I certainly should bust.

And after fowl came pudding
And numerous cakes and pie;
I really thought because I ate so much I sure would die.
Now I will tell you about the guests
With whom that day I dined.
A close observer, looking round, McCluskey's face would find;
He really looked so happy,
With his pipe between his teeth,
That one could tell he sure enjoyed This wondrous Xmas treat.
And after our dinner settled,
The guests then one and all Went out upon the lawn to play That famous game baseball.
McCluskey took the pitcher's box,
With Davidson behind,
The umpire blew his whistle,

And shouted loudly, Time.
McCluskey twisted his famous curve,
But the latter changed its route,
And instead of meeting Davison's glove,

It met him on the snout.
Of course it laid the catcher out;
The blood it fairly flew;
So then we all concluded
To finish with horse-shoe.

We all drew for places,
And the lucky numbers fell
So that Bain and Wright were partners.
And the opposition Reed and Bell.
The game was well contested, Score being twenty to twenty-one.

For by a lucky throw at the very last E. Reed and H. Bell won.
After the game was finished,
And the money they did take,
E. Reid sneaked into the house And stole the Xmas cake.

But after much maneuvering, Jumping fences and all like that,
His wife compelled his surrender.
By the influence of a baseball bat.

And after we finished supper
And all expressed good wishes, We put McCluskey and Davidson
To washing all the dishes.
As soon as they had finished,
We one and all did roam
Back to our lonely homesteads,
That we bachelors call home.
But as long as the sun rises
In the morning from out the east, I never shall forget the sport
Of this great Xmas feast.
